Out and about in Morvern

Morvern welcomes visitors who treat the countryside with respect.

Principles of the Scottish Outdoor Access Code

- be courteous and considerate, and respect the peace and privacy of others
- have a care for people enjoying the outdoors and do not hinder the work of land managers
- look after the places you visit and enjoy and show extra care for wildlife and historic places
- take responsibility for your own actions and take care for your own safety and that of others

Some useful guidelines

- do not park in passing places
- where possible, walk on tracks or round the edges of fields; grass is an important crop in Morvern
- leave gates as you find them, and avoid climbing over fences and stone dykes
- keep dogs under control at all times, put them on a lead near livestock and don't let them chase wild deer
- give a wide berth to ewes with lambs, cows with calves, and bulls
- leave flowers and plants for others also to enjoy
- take your litter home
- never light fires
